

MARIE DORO IN "DIPLOMACY" AT LYRIC APR. 28-29

Famous Players Stars Celebrated
Stage and Screen Beauty on Sardou's "Diplomacy"

Marie Doro, whose motion picture debut in the Famous Players production The Morals of Marcus, and subsequent appearance in the same company's The White Pearl, stamped her as one of the most winsome and altogether charming actresses on the screen, will shortly be seen in the Famous Players Charles Frohman adaptation of the celebrated Sardou drama Diplomacy, which will be the Paramount picture at the Lyric Theater, Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29.

This is by no means the first time that Marie Doro has played in Diplomacy, as she was co-star with William Gillette and Blanche Bates in the stage version of the play at the Empire Theater New York, last year. At that time she was declared by the New York critics to be the real star of the production as her work in the role of Dora—the same one which she plays in the motion picture—was the most finished and the most delightful of all. One of them expressed it as follows: It is Marie Doro who is the star of all stars in the play. She is not only an actress of rare charm, equal alike to light comedy and tense situations, but she is unusually beautiful. In the scene in which her husband makes it known that she is suspected of being a spy of having betrayed Count Orloff and of having stolen the precious documents, she is the central figure and carries the entire burden of the action and character portrayal.

Then one sees an unusual portrayal of the emotions as she is first filled with fear, then anger, then hate. The husband begs her to confess, telling her he will protect her and all the time she is filling with rage to think that he would believe for a moment that she would be so base. Miss Doro makes the character so real in this scene that one experiences all the emotional changes himself—all the bitterness and hatred. And when she has run the gamut of emotions it is, of course, the little woman with the breaking heart, feeling that she has lost everything, who survives.

If these opinions applied to the stage presentation, they paint with still more striking effect the picture of the silent presentation of the play, for in it Miss Doro achieves a new emotional triumph.

It is particularly notable that Diplomacy is the first picture in which Miss Doro has appeared since the announcement of her marriage to Elliot Dexter, who appears in the film in the same role in which he was seen on the stage—Julian Beauclerc, the young attaché at the British Legation in Paris. To Julian, who has just married Dora, a beauty whom he met at Monte Carlo, but of whose past history he knows nothing except what she has chosen to tell him, are entrusted the plans of Gibraltar.

The documents are stolen and suspicion points to Dora so strongly that even her husband believes that she is guilty. It is later proven that a spy stole them.

In support of Miss Doro there appear such distinguished players as Elliot Dexter, Edith Campbell Walker, Russell Bassett, Frank Losee and George Majeroni.

Diplomacy, aside from being one of the most important adaptations of current stage successes ever transferred to the screen, is also notable because it constitutes the third appearance of Marie Doro in motion pictures.

THE SPIRIT OF "CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP"

In a tenement district lived a family surrounded by filth and dirt. The whole atmosphere of the little room which they called "home," was one of hopeless depression and squalor. To prove the power of suggestion, a good woman placed on the table a miniature statue of the Venus of Milo. Against this grimy background of dirt and wretchedness, the Venus shone out in all her whiteness and purity, elevating and brightening her strange surroundings. The good woman called a week later and found that the place had been cleaned up, the dirt had been washed away and a pathetic but sincere attempt at decoration had been made; the subtle influence was effective.

If the homes in a neighborhood become weather beaten and shabby, values in the whole neighborhood deteriorate. But if some house owner paints and beautifies his home, it radiates its attractiveness in every direction and soon the whole neighborhood is made bright and attractive.

Saturday is four stake day in Logan. There should be a large turnout of people. Visitors are expected here from Oneida, Benson, Hyrum and Cache stakes to compete in the various contests.

ALFRED PICOT

The above photograph is that of Alfred Picot, of Logan, who died very suddenly of pneumonia last Thursday. The account of his death has already been recorded in these columns.

RESOLUTION PASSED BY I. O. O. F.

Whereas in the allwise Providence of God there has been called home our beloved brother Edward Korupkat, and

Whereas his fraternal manhood and integrity of purpose was an inspiration to all, and his sudden departure from this sphere of action leaves the hearts that loved and admired him filled with grief for the loss of father, brother, counselor and friend; therefore

Be It Resolved, That Logan Lodge No. 43 I. O. O. F. express to the bereaved wife and family our deepest sympathy in this hour of sorrow and commend them to the loving comfort of the Eternal Father in Heaven.

"Gone from us but not lost, only faded away,
As fades the morning star,
Which goeth not down behind the darkening west,
Nor hides amid the dim obscurity of the coming storm,
But melts away into the Light of Heaven."

ZUPPANN WANTS HIS COMPANY TO HAUL DELEGATES

W. E. Zupann, advertising manager for the O. L. & I. Railway Co., was in Logan on Tuesday, conferring with H. W. Brangham, local agent, on matters pertaining to future business of the local road. He took occasion to look into the matter of providing for the Cache county delegates an official train to the Provo convention.

As this matter has not been fully settled by the delegates, Mr. Zupann met with a number of local Republicans on the matter and promised to cut thirty minutes of the regular running time between Logan and Ogden. He said his company would leave here at 6:15 a. m. and reach Ogden at 8:15 a. m.

AFTER EXPERT JUDGMENT ON MINING STOCKS

There was rather an amusing occurrence in Logan on Tuesday, the occasion being the visit here of Joseph M. Howell, mining engineer of Salt Lake City, who makes his frequent trips to Logan to be duded out with a new hat, a pair of shoes or a new suit of clothes as the case may be at the clothing store of Howell Brothers. Mr. Howell, as we have before stated, recently sold the control in the Howell mine in Salt Lake to Messrs Thompson and Lynch two of the leading mining men of the state, for a consideration of upwards of $100,000.

Mr. Howell has repeatedly told members of the local mining exchange, it is unnecessary to mention here who these persons are, they are quite well known for their participation and constant activity in mining stocks, etc., to get a block of stock in the Howell. These fellows have been rather skeptical in relying on Mr. Howell's judgment, but since he has sold, and also since the stock has taken such an advance within a short time, these same local mining brokers, were button holding the distinguished visitor for first hand information and expert judgment as to what the various mining stocks would do in the immediate future. There is little question but a good many thousand dollars could have been taken away from Logan by this Cache Valley son, who has made good, if he had had the disposition to have done so, on any of the stocks on the Salt Lake City exchange. His only reply to the various inquiries, were modestly put to the effect that at the best, the buying of mining stocks in a mere prospect is nothing but a gamble. One man can see into the ground as far as another and it is only a question of judgment on all these things, as to which stock will bring back to one the money he invests therein.

James Cottam of Snowville, was in the city yesterday making his final payment and receiving title to 640 acres of land near Snowville that he purchased from the Promontory-Curtis Land Company in 1909. Mr. Cottam speaks well of the country and has been so successful that he is now renting his ranch and is moving into Brigham City to live. He says the spring is late in Box Elder County but the ground is moist and prospects for a good season are promising.

J. S. HANCEY OF HYDE PARK IS INJURED

Hyde Park, April 23.—Mr. Jesse S. Hancey met with a very bad accident yesterday which resulted in a badly broken shoulder, and a severe shaking up. He with Alfred Hancey and George Saunders were on their way to Riverside where Mr. Hancey is building a house for Mr. Jonathan Smith. They stopped to load in a few articles at the Claypool Lumber yards, at Smithfield and while loading a wheelbarrow, the horse became frightened and began running away. Mr. Hancey succeeded in getting one line which turned the horse in a half circle on the street. A quick short turn threw Mr. Hancey out and he fell on the hard road with the result as above stated. Dr. Merrill of Smithfield, was soon on the scene and at once conveyed him to the hospital at Logan where Dr. D. C. and T. B. Budge, Merrill and Hayward, attended him and set the broken shoulder. It is said to be a bad break and may be some time before he will be able to do much work.

Mr. Hancey has had bad luck and misfortune for some time. He was sick most of the past winter, and his oldest son is now housed up with inflammatory rheumatism, and has suffered a great deal. Their many friends hope for their speedy recovery.

The Amalgamated Sugar Co., are now planting their seed beets. About thirty men and boys are busy every day halving, hauling and planting. The pits thus far opened show that the beets have kept in good condition, save for the ravages of mice, which seem to be very numerous this spring.

On Wednesday, April 19, Mr. Benjamin Evans, son of Bishop Evans of Logan, and Miss Tracy Lamb, oldest daughter of Suel S. and Phoebe Lamb were married in the Logan Temple. A fine wedding supper was partaken of at the home of the bride's parents the evening of the wedding, to which the immediate relatives were invited. A bundle shower was given the bride the week before the marriage and many useful presents were presented to her.

Next Wednesday, April 26, Miss Mary Lamb, a sister to the above mentioned bride, will become Mrs. John T. Quayle, son of Hon. John Quayle of Logan. Friday afternoon, a bundle shower was given in her honor and presents galore were given her. A dainty lunch was served to a host of friends present.

These young people all are of excellent and prominent families, and many friends wish them a happy voyage down the stream of time to gether sailing side by side.

The saints of Hyde Park enjoyed a spiritual feast today at sacrament services. We were honored with the presence of Apostle Mathias Cowley, Thomas Duce, of the Cardston stake presidency, and former stake president Orson Smith. Elder Cowley spoke of the great characters and noble work of our church leaders, and how while not highly educated and eloquent, as the world view it, yet they were made strong and great by their humbleness, honesty, and living pure upright lives. It was the power of the Holy Ghost that brought conviction to the minds of men thru the labors of faithful servants.

About ten days of good weather would enable the farmers to get the most of their crops in.

Hay is very scarce just now and most of our farmers are compelled to turn the cows in the pasture, even though the pastures are not quite ready.

Miss Lucile Duce entertained a number of her friends on Thursday afternoon. A delicious luncheon was served after which games were played and a good time was had by all present. The decorations were American Beauty roses.

Miss Duce leaves soon with her father Mr. Thomas Duce, for Canada, for a six months visit.

W. F. Jensen, the candy merchant, will be sporting a new auto delivery one of these first days, the machine is being built by E. W. Lundahl & Sons at their machine shop on South Main street.

ANSWERS MAN WHO ATTACKS JUV. COURT

Taxpayer and Parent Come Out
With Lofty Defense of the Juvenile Court System

Editor Republican:

In a recent issue of The Journal, someone signing "H," undertakes to show reasons for high taxation, and finds no better proof than the fact that the state pays $1000 per annum to the judges of the juvenile court, and asks what need Logan has of a juvenile court anyway.

The question reveals H's ignorance of facts and conditions. In the first place, if H would examine the records of the juvenile court, as the writer has done, he would find that hundreds of cases of juvenile offenses are handled annually by the officers of the juvenile court, these cases range all the way from truancy to theft and immorality committed by youthful offenders living in Logan.

In the second place the juvenile court and judge referred to by H, are not for Logan only, but under the statutes is designated as the juvenile court of the first judicial district which covers the counties of Cache, Box Elder and Rich, and Hon. H. A. Pedersen is the honored judge, whose fatherly, patient and kind admonitions have helped many a wayward boy and girl on the road to good citizenship, and many a grateful parent blesses the day that his or her wayward boy escaped the shame and the pain of being handled as a common criminal in a police court and the association of hardened and depraved criminals in some city or county jail.

It is certainly a grave mistake to attack a system of government and reformation inaugurated by all the leading states of the union, and approved by educators and social students and reformers everywhere. Much more could be said, but let this suffice for the present.

"H's" reference to President Whitsoe's salary is to the mind of the writer so small and narrow in conception that it is not worthy of passing notice.

Respectfully,

PARENT AND TAXPAYER.

EMIL OLSEN MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING

Emil Olsen, a prominent citizen of Hyrum, 50 years of age, farmer by occupation, having a large dry farm in the Pocatello Valley, was drowned at Hyrum yesterday while working at repairing the banks of the Little Bear river near the site of Baxter's Mill.

During the past few days it seems that the river has risen very rapidly and was washing the banks of the stream. Mr. Olsen was engaged to do some repair work and while driving near the bank, the earth underneath his wagon began to give way, the unfortunate man became excited, was tossed into the water which is flowing in great torrents, and before he could be given any assistance, was drowned.

Deceased is survived by a wife and seven children. Mrs. A. J. Clawson of this city is one of the children.

PROF. MOENCH PASSES AWAY

Prof. L. F. Moench, after an illness of several months, succumbs to heart trouble in Ogden, where he had gone to take treatment under a specialist. He was one of the most noted early educators in the state. Hundreds attribute their ambition and success to the inspiration of his teaching. Prof. Moench was not merely a teacher. In his fervor and zeal and integrity of ideals he was an apostle of education.

For forty-nine years his name has
